2009 Donor List
We are extraordinarily proud to report on 2009, the inaugural year for the Dravet Syndrome Foundation. The mission of the Dravet Syndrome Foundation (DSF) is to aggressively raise research funds for Dravet syndrome and related conditions, while providing support to affected individuals and families. We pride ourselves on maintaining operating expenses at a minimum to ensure that the gift of every donor truly brings us one step closer to a cure. We understand:

- The need to fund innovative research
- The urgency in finding better treatments
- The motivation of our donors to make an impact specifically in the fields of Dravet syndrome and related conditions
- The importance of transparency and accountability of not only our organization, but the researchers that we fund

Generous donors helped us with start-up costs and initial funding for our first research grant. Many volunteers have contributed their time and talent to our organization from hosting fundraising events to managing the website. Those who do volunteer find immense personal satisfaction knowing that their individual service is making a difference in the lives of children with Dravet syndrome, as well as their families. However, even more support will be needed going forward as we work towards fulfilling major research grants in 2010.

We thank everyone responsible for the accomplishments recorded in this report, which enabled us to establish the DSF and obtain non-profit status so quickly. In addition to generous donors, this also included several businesses and individuals who contributed their talents and services pro bono.

We greatly appreciate the generosity of everyone who assists us as we work towards fulfilling our mission.

Thanks to the generosity of many people – from family members and friends to corporations to those sympathizers we have never met – we will award our first $100,000 research grant in April of 2010. If that is possible in less than 6 months from our inception, we believe that by working together we can find a cure in our children’s lifetime!

We are honored to have Dr. Jack M. Parent as the Medical Advisor for the DSF. Jack M. Parent, M.D., is an associate professor of neurology, director of the Neurodevelopment and Regeneration Laboratory, and co-director of the Comprehensive Epilepsy Center in the University of Michigan Medical School. His current research interests include neural stem cell transplantation to treat brain injury and neurodegeneration, and the modification of adult neural stem cells to promote brain repair after stroke or prevent epilepsy.

Dr. Parent earned a Bachelor of Arts degree, with distinction, in human biology from Stanford University and his medical degree from the Yale University School of Medicine. He completed a medical internship and neurology residency at the University of California, San Francisco (UCSF), where he was selected chief resident. He stayed at UCSF for clinical fellowship training in epilepsy and clinical neurophysiology, and postdoctoral training in neuroscience research.

An internationally recognized research leader in the fields of neural stem cell biology, regeneration after brain injury and epilepsy, Dr. Parent established the Neurodevelopment and Regeneration Laboratory at the U-M in 2000.

He has received several awards for his research, including a Junior Investigator Award from the American Epilepsy Society, a Paul Beeson Physician Faculty Scholars in Aging Award, a Dreifuss-Penry Epilepsy Award from the American Academy of Neurology, and a Grass Foundation Award in Neuroscience from the American Neurological Association.
